

Chazey Wood after the Rain by John Yeo (pastel)

Chazey Wood is contained within the estate of Mapledurham. The estate has the last working watermill on the Thames which featured in the film "The Eagle has Landed". Mapledurham "the maple tree enclosure" appears in the Domesday book as two manors, Mapledurham Gurney and Mapledurham Chazey. Artist John Yeo from Caversham says "I specialise in the medium of pastel for my art. I also teach painting to both art societies and artist guilds as well as complete beginners. I paint woodland scenes from places that inspire in my soul a feeling and presence of peace and tranquillity. Those places are frequently south Oxfordshire, especially on the Chiltern hills."
