

Aston Rowant Walk

Walks likely to be suitable for people with impaired mobility and users of wheelchairs, mobility scooters and pushchairs

Aston Rowant National Nature Reserve is an area of woodland and downland on top of the Chilterns escarpment. There are fantastic views and a good chance to see Red Kites. There is car parking.

Path Information

Most of the nature reserve is very hilly with narrow grass paths. There are two routes with a wide firm surface: ● There is a 150m path from the main car park to a viewpoint. ● The longer, flatter, 750m path through beech woods finishes at the gate (one way opening) where it enters the downland, in order to protect rare plants. To progress to the viewpoint involves a grassy and uneven path, which is likely to prove difficult for users of wheelchairs and mobility vehicles. The main car park has large loose stone surfacing. The map shows the two routes with information about surfacing and slopes to help you to decide if they are suitable for you.
